Beverly Hills Crew Repairs Water Main Break, Restores Service

(BEVERLY HILLS) – A water main break in the alley west of Robertson Boulevard in Beverly Hills has been repaired and normal water service restored to residents and businesses as of 2:45 p.m. Thursday. The water main, a six-inch cast iron pipe built in 1924, broke at approx. 4:30 a.m. on January 8, 2015 in the alley just north of Wilshire Boulevard and west of Robertson Boulevard. City workers responded immediately and were able to restrict the flow of water within an hour.

A few businesses adjacent to the alley experienced some water leaking into the buildings, but were able to open for business as usual. A portion of the alley remains blocked off until street repairs can be made. There were no disruptions in street traffic associated with the incident.
